SHOT THE PRESIDENT

Mr. McKinley Seriously Wounded by an Anarchist Named Leon Czolgosz, But May Recover.

TWO BULLETS FIRED INTO HIS BODY.

One Shot Took Effect in Right Breast, the Other in the Abdomen, Causing a Painful Wound.

The Assassin Was Immediately Arrested by Detectives and Locked Up and Has Made a Written Confession.

The Next Few Hours Will Decide William McKinley's Fate-He Is Holding His Own, But Crisis Is Yet to Be Passed.

Milburn House, Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 9.-6 a. m.-The president passed a somewhat restless night but sleeping fairly well. His general condition is unchanged. Pulse, 120; temperature, 101; respiration, 28.

Buffalo, N. Y. Sept. 7.—President Mc-Kinley was shot and seriously wounded by a would-be assassin while holding a reception in the Temple of Music, at the Pan-American exposition, a few minutes after 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. One shot took effect in the right breast, the other in the abdomen. The first is not of a serious nature, and the bullet has been extracted. The latter pierced the abdominal wall and has not been located.

At 10:40 p. m. the following bulletin by the attending physicians was the only indication of the condition of the presi-the attending physicians was the only indication of the condition of the president's wounds:

"The president is rallying and is resting comfortably. At 10:50 p. m. temperature 100.4 degrees; pulse 124; respiration 24. Signed by P. M. Rixey, M. B. Mann, R. Parke, H. Mynter, Eugene Wanbin. Countersigned by George B. Cortelyou, secretary to the president.

The president, though well guarded by United States secret service detectives, was fully exposed to such an attack as occurred. He stood at the edge of the raised dais upon which stands the great pipe organ at the east side of the magnificent structure. Throngs of people crowded in at the various entrances, to gaze upon their executive, perchance to clasp his hand. The president was in a cheerful mood, and was enjoying to the full the hearty evidences of good will which everywhere met his gaze.

It was shortly after 4 p. m. when one of the throng which surrounded the presidential party, a medium-sized man of ordinary appearance and plainly dressed in black, approached as if to greet the president. Both Secretary Cortelyou and President Milburn noticed that the man's hand was swathed in a bandage or hand-kerchief. He worked his way amid the stream of people up to the edge of the dais until he was within two feet of the president. President McKinley smiled, bowed and extended his hand in that spirit of geniality the American people so well know, when suddenly the sharp crack of a revolver rang loud and clear above the hum of voices.

There was an instant of almost complete silence. The president stood stock

There was an instant of almost complete silence. The president stood stock still, a look of hesitancy, almost of bewilderment on his face. Then he retreated a step, while a pallor began to steal over his features. The multitude, only partially aware that something serious had happened, paused in surprise while necks were craned and all eyes turned as one to the rostrum.

The president retained the full exercise ne president retained the full exercise of his faculties until placed on the operating table and subjected to an anaesthetic. Upon the first examination it was ascertained that one bullet had taken effect in the right breast just below the nipple, causing a comparatively harm less wound.

other took effect in the abdomen

The other took effect in the abdomen about four inches below the left nipple, four inches to the left of the navel and about on a level with it.

Upon arrival at the exposition hospital the second bullet was probed for. The walls of the abdomen were opened, but the ball was not located. The incision was hastily closed, and after a hasty consultation it was decided to remove the patient to the home of President Milburn. This was done, the automobile ambulance being used for the purpose. Arriving at the Milburn residence, the task of probing for the bullet which had lodged in the abdomen was begun by Dr. Roswell Parke.

When the news of the crime was tele-

Roswell Parke.

When the news of the crime was telephoned to the home of President Milburn, where Mrs. McKinley was resting, immediate steps were taken to spare her the shock of a premature statement of the occurrence before the true condition of the president should be ascertained. Guards were stationed and no one was permitted to approach the house. When it was decided to remove the president from the exposition hospital to the Milburn residence the news was broken to Mrs. McKinley as gently as possible. She bore the shock remarkably well and displayed the utmost fortitude.

While the wounded president was being borne from the exposition to the Milburn residence between rows of onlookers with bared heads a far different dent. "I am not badly hurt, I assure you."

Nevertheless his outer garments were hastily loosened and when a trickling stream of crimson was seen to wind its way down his breast, spreading its stain over the white surface of the linen, their worst fears were confirmed.

The president's assailant in the meantime had been hustled to the rear of the building by exposition guards where he was held while the building was cleared and later he was turned over to Superintendent Bull, of the Buffalo police department, who took the prisoner to No. 13 police station and afterwards to police headquarters. As soon as the crowd in the Temple of music had been dispersed sufficiently the president was removed in the automobile ambulance and taken to the exposition hospital where an examination was made. The best medical skill was summoned and within a brief period a number of Buffalo's best known practitioners were at the patient's known practitioners were at the patient's and buoyant tread and gave expression to another practitioners were at the patient's how mere at the patient's active the period a number of Buffalo's best and was been at the patient's active the property of the prisoner. In a few minutes the crowd had grown from tens to hundreds, and these in turn quickly swelled to thousands, until the stress were completely blocked with a mass of humanity. It was at this juncture that some one raised the cry of "Lynch him." Like a flash the cry was taken up and the whole crowd as if ignited by the single match, thus applied, re-echoed the cry, "Lynch him." Hang him." Closer decame was surged. Denser the throughout the swaying multitude. The mere the swaying multitude and squad of reserves advanced with solid front, drove the crowd back from the curb, then across the street, and gradually succeeded in dispersing them from about the entrance to the station.

By this time there were probably 50,000 people assembled in the vicinity of Pearl, Seneca, Frie streets and the Terrace. The crowd was so great that it became necessary to rope off the entire street in front of police headquarters. The percent and of the prisoner. The dealth of the same as the streets in front of police headquarters and a doubt a week in first proved quite communicative, so much so in fact that little dependence could be placed on what he said. He first gave his name as Fred Neiman, said his home was in Detroit, and that he had been in Buffalo about a week. He said he had been boarding at a place in Broadway. Later this place was located as John Nowak's saloon, a Raines Law about him to remain calm and telling them not to be alarmed.

"But you are wounded," cried his secretary; "let me examine you?"
"No, I think not," answered the president. "I am not badly hurt, I assure you."

Nevertheless his outer garments were hastly loosened and when a trickling stream of crimson was seen to wind its

The encouraging news spread over the exposition city with great rapidity, and thousands came in carriages, in street cars and afoot, to learn for themselves of the faith and confidence that existed about the Milburn house. When a score of newsboys darted into the crowd about 6 o'clock shouting: "Extra. The President Will Live," it was with difficulty that they could suppress the shouts of thanksgiving that rose in their throats. And the newspapermen, many of whom have been at their posts for 48 hours continuously, remained steadfastly throughout the day in the little white walled tents across the street from the house where the country's patient lay, and diashed the news over land and sea, and yet despite all this optimism, the president is by no means out of danger. Not one of his physicians; not one of his advisers who is admitted to the inner councils, has the temerity to go so far as to declare that he is. But if he continues to improve for one more day the danger of peritonitis, which is most dreaded, will have practically disappeared.

Thus far the ball of the assassin, which is still in the body, gives the physicians no anxiety. But if the slightest inflammation appears in the region of the lead it will be immediately extracted. No difficulty is anticipated in this regard.

All the effects of the ether which was administered when the operation was performed on the exposition grounds had disappeared Sunday morning and the president's mind was perfectly clear during the time he was awake Sunday. Sunday for the first time he enjoyed natural sleep. Between 9 and 4 o'clock he had the solace of natural slumber for about four hours, and the physicians stated unofficially that his sleep had been "quiet and reposeful," and had helped the sufferer a great deal. Sunday also for the first time nourishment was administered. It was in liquid form and was injected hy-

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The X-Ray machine arrived shortly after 10 o'clock Sunday and a few minutes afterward Dr. Charles McBurney, the famous New York surgeon, drove hastily up to the residence. Secretary Cortelyou and Mr. Milburn had met him at the station.

The president, who was free from pain for the first few hours after the shooting, has suffered considerably since, and when unconscious or semi-conscious moans as if in agony. When completely conscious, however, he bravely gives no sign of suffering.

Maj. and Mrs. Rand, who are intimate friends of the president and Mrs. McKinley, reached Buffalo Sunday morning from Washington and went immediately to the Milburn residence. Mrs. Rand is one of Mrs. McKinley's closest personal friends and her presence with the president's wife during this trying period will be, it is believed, a great comfort to podermically to avoid the possibility of irritating the walls of the stomach. The exterior wound was dressed Sunday morning and is progressing satisfactorily. All day the members of the cabinet and others associated with the president and public life came solicitously and went away almost jubilantly, all reflecting the hopeful outlook at the Milburn house. Vice President Roosevelt received the earlier bulletins, and after going to church, hurried to the residence. There he was joined by Senator Hanna. They came away together and gave expression to the most confident and encouaraging sentiments. The vice president not only shared the cheerful feeling but was extremely optimistic. Both gentlemen took occasion to denounce in unmeasured terms the statements gaining circulation in some quarters that the doctors were not frank in their communications to the public. They maintained that the president's favorable condition was even understated by the physicians through motives of conservatism during the 72 hour period.

THE CABINET.

Hay and Long Are Near Their Stricken Chief.

Not the slightest premonitory symptom of peritonitis appeared and the fresh hope, borne with the morning, grew stronger and stronger as the day advanced until toward evening the confidence expressed in the president's recovery seemed almost too sanguine. Dr. Charles McBurney, the famous New York surgeon who had been summoned in consultation, after a thorough examination in which he said he had found not a single unfavorable symptom, joined in the last afternoon bulletin which declared that the president's condition was satisfactory to all the physicians present. It is not strange, therefore, that the vice president, the members of the cabinet and other distinguished visitors who called, came away with lighter hearts and buoyant tread and gave expression to the most optimistic sentiments.

The encouraging news spread over the exposition city with great rapidity, and thousands came in carriages, in street cars and afoot, to learn for themselves of the faith and confidence that existed about the Milhurn house when a score and afout, the Milhurn house when a score ion has arisen in their minds as to who of grave international complications, an emergency might occur, and the question has arisen in their minds as to who should proclaim the disability provided for by the constitution.

The members of the cabinet are making their headquarters at the Buffalo club, and there their interchanges take place. They are to remain here for the present and the plans of departure are indefinite and not even thought of while the president is not entirely out of danger. If he should pass the danger point, however, they will return at once to Washington.

THE PRESIDENT'S WIFE.

Mrs. McKinley Bears Up Bravely and Her Fortitude Is Regarded as Remarkable.

Mrs. McKinley continues to bear up bravely, and her fortitude under the circumstances is regarded as remarkable. One of her dearest and closest friends, Mrs. Rand, of Washington, has arrived here and will probably remain with her during this trying period.

The members of the cabinet are doing everything in their power to prevent the sensational exploitation of Czolgosz, because he undoubtedly craves notoriety and because his fellow anarchists throughout the country love it. They do not desire to place any stone in the path of the authorities who are laboring to unravel the plot, if any plot existed, and all the machinery of the government secret service will be used to aid the state authorities in the prosecution of their investigation. But by direct request of Secretary Root on behalf of his colleagues, the district attorney and the police will not permit the prisoner to be seen or interviewed, nor will they discuss the methods of the results of their efforts to discover the originators, of the plot. All that has leaked out from the jail shows that the prisoner is vain and boastful of his crime, and would, if given an opportunity, fill the newspapers with columns of his vaporings.

Abner McKinley, brother of the president, reached here at 12:20 a. m. He was admitted to the house at once.

admitted to the house at once. THE PUBLIC WILL BE ADVISED.

The Actual Condition of the President Will Be Made Known Through Bulletins.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The public will be kept fully advised of the actual condition of the president. Each bulletin is carefully and conservatively prepared, and is an authoritative statement of the most important features of the case at the hour it is issued. The people are entitled to the facts and shall have them.

GEORGE B. CORTELYOU,

Secretary to the President

This statement is intended to put at rest any idea that the official bulleting underestimate the conditions and at the same time to give assurance that those with the president intend that the people shall have the facts.

HE IS AN ANARCHIST.

The Assassin Denies That He Had a Confederate in the Attempted Murder.

Buffalo, Sept. 7.—Leon Czolgosz, the self-confessed assassin, has signed a confes-sion covering six pages foolscap, which state that he is an anarchist and that he sion covering six pages foolscap, which state that he is an anarchist and that he became an enthusiastic member of that body through the influence of Emma Goldman, whose writings he had read and whose lectures he had listened to. He denies having any confederate and says that he decided on the assassination of the president three davs ago and bought the revolver with which the act was committed in Buffalo. He has seven brothers and sisters in Cleveland, and the Cleveland directory has the names of about that number living on Hosmer street and Ackland avenue, which adjoin. Some of them are butchers and others in different trades. Czolgosz does not appear in the least degree uneasy or penitent for his action. He says he was induced by his attention to Emma Goldman's lectures and writings to decide that the present form of government in this country was all wrong and he thought the best way to end it was by killing the president. He shows no sign of insanity, but is very reticent about much of his career. While acknowledging himself an anarchist, he does not state to what branch of the organization he belongs.

Cleveland, O. Sept. 7.—The city directory contains the names of several persons named Czolgosz living on Hosmer

Cleveland, O. Sept. 7.—The city directory contains the names of several persons named Czolgosz living on Hosmer street. The neighborhood is a Polish settlement in the far southeast end of the city. The police and a number of newspaper men have gone to learn what they can of Czolgosz's recent movements in this city.

Czolgosz has a father living on a farm about eight miles from Cleveland. He is unmarried himself. He wears the button and claims to be a member of the "Golden Eagles."

chief of Police Corner, when questioned concerning Czolgosz, said Saturday morning that he was satisfied he was a Clevelander. The farm of Czolgosz's father is said to be in Warrensville, a settlement eight miles south of Cleveland.

THE POPE'S SYMPATHIES.

He Earnestly Prays That President McKinley May Escape With His Life.

London, Sept. 9.—Queen Margherita, upon hearing the news of the attempt upon the life of President McKinley, says the Rome correspondent of the Daily News, with tears in her eyes, "These things comes hardest said: on the women, and at least poor Mrs. McKinley, in her state of health, should have been spared."

The pope, the Daily News correspondent says, also displayed deep emotion, exclaiming: "Oh, how earnestly I pray that he may escape with his life. These violent crimes are the my humble prayers."

Not an Italian.

Milan, Sept. 9.—Commenting on the attempted assassination of President McKinley, La Perseveranza says: "Thanks be to God the would-be assassin is not an Italian. Gazerio, Luccheni and Bresci have given an abominable reputation to our name abroad ality, just as they have no country, information on the subject is obno conscience, nor morality."

SHORT OF FUNDS.

All the Members Except Secretaries Colombia's Financial Straits Are Extreme and She is Pushed to the Last Point.

> Colon, Sept. 9.—The United States pattleship Iowa arrived at Panama Saturday.

Colon, Sept. 6, via Kingston, Sept. (Refused at Colon by the censor and forwarded by steamer to Kingston) .-Colombia's financial straits are extreme, and she is pushed to the last point to obtain funds. The Colompian paper is now worth less than three cents, and gold continues to depreciate. Seventy or eighty per cent. of the people of the country sympathize with the revolution and are opposed to the present government, largely, it is asserted, on account of the government's exaction of taxes and imposts and other vexatious efforts to raise money. This financial distress, coupled with the extent of the revolution, which momentarily becomes more threateningthis being especially the case in the Venezuelan entanglement-it is asserted, constitutes the strongest reason why Colombia can not go to war with Venezuela with any hope of suc-

The future contains no promise of financial betterment, and the people become daily more burdened. Forced loans are common, and their daily recurrence is expected. In some cases customs receipts have been hypothecated months in advance as security for these loans, and in other cases no security is given. The continuation of such governmental impositions increase the liberal ranks, and the prolongation of the present situation will, it is believed, increase the liberals' chances of success.

The government is holding the army, which it is making strenuous efforts to pay, and which, with the official employes, seems strong enough to prolong the present situation, but unable to deal the revoluton a crushing, effective blow. Time will strengthen the rebels' position throughout the country, but in the isthmus district they notably lack leaders. The government to-day owes the 1,500 troops on the isthmus $45,000 in gold in back pay.

Reports are again in circulation that the liberals are concentrating at Chorrera, on the Pacific coast, 15 miles north of Panama. Similar reports have been current for weeks past.

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 9.-The royal steamer Para, from Colon, reports rebel activity in the neighborhood of Panama and Colon. She also reports that fighting has taken place at Bocas del Toro. The government of the latter place, failing to repuise the liberals, the rebels have given notice of their intention to attack Color within a fortnight. The government is continually moving troops to meet the rebel advances. Trade continues almost paralyzed.

THE BIG STEEL STRIKE.

Executive Board of the Amalgamated Association Urge Shaffer to End the Struggle.

Pittsburg, Sept. 9.-While the members of the executive board of the Amalgamated association did not say so, it was intimated by those in close touch with them, that they had plainly told President Shaffer that a settlement of the strike was imperative, and that he had better put himself into communication with President Schwab and have a plain understand. ing at once. In other words, the executive board of the Amalgamated association were pushing the leader for a settlement and to end the battle. It was said also in a semi-official way that possibly President Shaffer was communicating with President Schwab personally Sunday. It was believed that he had either gone to Mr. Schwab's summer home in Loretto, or else was meeting him in New York, Leaders are making strenuous efforts to hold the men in line with the hope that some means of a settlement will come in a few days at the farthest, If it fails, the men, it is believed, will break away and return to work as individuals. That would be worse than the terms that have thus far been offered by the corporation.

THE DEATH PENALTY.

Bill Will Be Introduced in the Congress Making An Attempt on the President's Life Treason.

Cumberland, Sept. 9.-In discussing the attempted assassination of President McKinley, Cingressman George A. Pearre, of Maryland, said:

"I will offer a bill in the next congress of the United States amending the constitution so as to make an unsuccessful attempt on the life of a president of the nation treason and the penalty death. The man who strikes at the nation's head is a pubic enemy, and should be treated as such.

Another Record Broken.

I can only offer York city, Sunday rowed a mile on the afflicted victim and his poor wife the Harlem river in 5 minutes 82-5 seconds, breaking the American tidewater record. The former record was held by John Rumohr, of New York, his time being 5 minutes and 27 secends.

Letting Him Down Easy. "That was a pretty harsh thing you said about me on the witness stand."
"What?"

"Why, when they asked you about my reputation for truth and veracity, you said I hadn't any."

"Yes; that has troubled me a good deal since then, but, honestly, old man, I wanted to let you down easy, so I lied about.

"I should think you did." "But you ought not to complain. Suppose I told them what your reputation in that line actually is!"—Chicago Post.

Fashion's New Fad.

"That," responded Cynicus, "is easy.

CHAPTER III.—CONTINUED. "Mrs. Vane has a convert. Did you see Mrs. Ward's girl in the pew with her?" Mrs. Wilson asked, eagerly.

"Yes. Rather a neat, pretty girl, and seemed to know her place. Mrs. Ward told me the other day that she is well educated and-"

"It is no sort of use trying to do that sort of thing!" Mrs. Rice interrupted, with energy. "I tried that plan once in Whiteville, and it did no good at all. Servants as a class cannot be treated that way. They always take advantage of it."

"That's what I have always said," added Mrs. Burns. "Look at Mrs. Vane's girls. She changes as often as any of us, and has as much trouble. The girls don't want to be treated like that." "And, if they do, it makes no difference with their real position. No one will really ask them into society; and, if they did, they would not know how to behave," Mrs. Wilson ex-

How the Latter Outwitted the Iron Chancellor and Became Minister to the United States.

Autobiography, published by the tuning up. Scribners, that has a special interest for Americans. It is about Karl de Schloezer, whom he met at Paris and who afterward was minister to the United States.

"He entered the Prussian diplomatic service," writes Prof. Muller, "and was the protege of the princess of Prussia, afterward the empress of Germany. That was enough to make Bismarck dislike him, and when Schloezer served as secretary of legation under Bismarck as ambassador at St. Petersburg, he committed the outrage of challenging his chief to a duel. Bismarck declined, nor world it, according to diplomatic etiquette, have been possible for him not to decline.

"Bismarck was quiet for a time, looking at some papers, and then remarked, quite unconcernedly: "'You would not care to go to the United States as minister?"

"'I am ready to go to-morrow,' replied Schloezer, and having carried his point, having in fact outwitted Bismarck, he started at once for Washington.

Bismarck knew that Schloezer could wield a sharp pen, and there was time when he was sensitive to such pen-pricks. They did not see much of each other afterward, but, owing to the protection of the empress, Schloezer was later accredited as Prussian envoy to the pope, and died too soon for his friends in beautiful Italy.

SPECIAL MAIL TRAIN.

An Effort to Catch the Southampton Mail Steamer at New York Saturday Morning.

Chicago, Sept. 6 .- A carload of the most important mail that has left Australia in years is being rushed across the continent with the utmost speed to catch the Southampton mail steamer at New York at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The mail would be due to arrive by regular train service at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning, one hour late for the morning train over the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern. In the effort to make that connection a special from Omaha sped toward Chicago Friday night with the right of way over every other train on the road. In case of failure to connect here a special will be sent out to overtake the regular train at Cleveland. To overcome the advantage of one hour, it will have to average better than one mile a minute from here to Cleveland.

CELEBRATED BORALMA.

Lawson's Gelding Was Defeated By Hamlin's Lord Derby at Charter Oak Park.

Hartford, Ct., Sept. 6.—A big crowd at Charter Oak park Thursday afternoon witnessed the defeat of Thos. Lawson's celebrated gelding, Boralma by C. J. Hamlin's Lord Derby. The race between these two horses was one of the finest of the year, and it was only after five heats had been trotted that the Boston favorite's colors were lowered. The betting on the race, the free-for-all trot, was very heavy. The starters were Boralma, Lord Derby and The Monk. As much as $90,000 went into the pool. Boralma was a tremendous favorite before the start at odds of 3 to 1 2:071/4, 2:09, 2:10.

The doctors are giving her case close scrutiny, as they can not understand why, after a year's incarceration, the spark of reason should be rekindled in such a strange manner.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

In 1890 there were 27 Christian Science reading-rooms; there are now over 300.

The whole British empire has only 124 Protestant bishops, of whom 32 are English, 7 Irish, 12 Scotch, 73 colonial. England has 35,916 churches and 41,320 clergy. Ireland, however, has more churches than clergy, the numbers being 4,540 to 4,110. The Baptist union of Wales has voted unanimously that it cannot join the National Free church union as long as that body arranges for united communion services.

Of the 35,920 churches in the United Kingdom, the Church of England has 14,570 and the Methodists 11,500. There are 820 Roman Catholic and 60 Jewish places of worship. A school-teacher of Rochester, N.Y., boxed the ears of a pupil rather more severely than the mother of the lad thought best, according to the Post-Express. She sent the teacher this note: "Nature has provided a proper place for the punishment of a boy, and it is not his ear. I will thank you to use it hereafter."

ILLEGAL MARRIAGES.

Fourteen Solemnized in English Churches Found to Be Void

on Trivial Grounds. It will come as a disagreeable shock to any surviving couples who were married in St. John's old church. Sleighs, in 1828, to learn that their marriages were not legal, says the London Daily Mail.

Such, however, is the startling fact, and the remark applies not only to this church but to 13 others, in all of which marriages have taken place, although they were not licensed for the purpose. In order to legalize these unions, Lord Belper has brought forward a bill in parliament. The chapelry of Ugglebarnby, in the York diocese, possesses three of these churches, two of which may be called the patriarchs of marriages. The church Ancient Chapelry of Ug has had no license since the consecration. The other churches are New B ford church; Christ church, Bradfor church of the new parish of the Lods Salop; St. Helen's church, Ore; St. S viour's Ringley; St. John's, Ipswiel St. Peter's, Woodmansey.

In addition to these, the church o St. Mary, Greenhithe, has been used as the parish church of the residents of the two training ships lying off Greenhithe. Before October 17, 1899, these residents did not belong to the parish. The banns published and marriages solemnized before that date are legalized by Lord Belper's bill.

Clause three of the bill freely forgives all the ministers concerned, and absolves them from any penalties incurred by them in connection with these marriages.

BISMARCK AND SCHLOEZER.

How the Latter Outwitted the Iron Chancellor and Became Minister to the United States.

F. Max Muller tells a story in his Autobiography, published by the tuning up. Scribners, that has a special interest for Americans. It is about Karl de Schloezer, whom he met at Paris and who afterward was minister to the United States.

"He entered the Prussian diplomatic service," writes Prof. Muller, "and was the protege of the princess of Prussia, afterward the empress of Germany. That was enough to make Bismarck dislike him, and when Schloezer served as secretary of legation under Bismarck as ambassador at St. Petersburg, he committed the outrage of challenging his chief to a duel. Bismarck declined, nor world trotted that the Boston favorite's it, according to diplomatic etiquette, "Very well," replied Barbara, hur- have been possible for him not to de-

"Bismarck was quiet for a time, looking at some papers, and then remarked, quite unconcernedly: "'You would not care to go to the United States as minister?' "'I am ready to go to-morrow,' replied Schloezer, and having carried his point, having in fact outwitted Bismarck, he started at once for Washington.

Bismarck knew that Schloezer could wield a sharp pen, and there was a time when he was sensitive to such pen-pricks. They did not see much of each other afterward, but, owing to the protection of the empress, Schloezer was later accredited as Prussian envoy to the pope, and died too soon for his friends in beautiful

ILLEGAL MARRIAGES.

Fourteen Solemnized in English Churches Found to Be Void on Trivial Grounds.

It will come as a disagreeable shock to any surviving couples who were married in St. John's old church, Sleighs, in 1828, to learn that their marriages were not legal, says the London Daily Mail. Such, however, is the startling fact, and the remark applies not only to this church but to 13 others, in all of which marriages have taken place, although they were not licensed for the purpose. In order to legalize these unions, Lord Belper has brought forward a bill in parliament.

The chapelry of Ugglebarnby, in the York diocese, possesses three of these churches, two of which may be called the patriarchs of illegal marriages. The church of the Ancient Chapelry of Ugglebarnby has had no license since the date of its consecration. Its fellow-patriarch, St. John's old church, also in the chapelry, has had no license since 1827. The other of the trio is St. John's new church, in which illegal marriages have only been performed since 1895. At Cadney-cum-Howsham, marriages been too unwieldy. The number of marriages which have taken place in the 14 churches cannot easily be discovered, but some idea of the number may be gathered from the fact that at St. Andrew's church. Dalton-le-Dale, between 300 and 400 have been solemnized.

The other churches are New Basford church; Christ church, Bradford; church of the new parish of the Lodge, Salop; St. Helen's church, Ore; St. Saviour's Ringley; St. John's, Ipswich; St. Peter's, Woodmansey.

In addition to these, the church of St. Mary, Greenhithe, has been used as the parish church of the residents of the two training ships lying off Greenhithe. Before October 17, 1899. these residents did not belong to the parish. The banns published and marriages solemnized before that date are legalized by Lord Belper's bill. Clause three of the bill freely forgives all the ministers concerned, and absolves them from any penalties incurred by them in connection with these marriages.

The eye being a rather delicate organ, great care should be exercised in the election of proper glasses. Many believe that glasses should be restored to only when the sight becomes so defective as not to be able to do without. This is a great mistake which must be combatted Whenever there is unmistakable evidence of the need of their aid, they should be used. A neglect of this rule sometimes produces mischief which results in serious trouble if the course be persisted in.

Our Dr C. H. BOWEN having just returned from taking a special course in Oplics from one of the best specialists in New York, is prepared to do the best of work, having the latest improved methods of fitting. Examinations free. Next visit Thursday, Sept. 12, 1901.

DARKNESS AND DAWN.

As seamen from a distant land Lean silent on a vessel's side, Shading their eyes with sunburnt hand As slowly drifting with the tide,

Turn soft-eyed as they dimly trace The smoke rise from the roofs of home, Whilst sheer across the ocean waste The sinking sun lit up the foam:

When dropped the dark, uprose the And they their fitful duties plied;

When morning dawned, the curling seas Had rolled them to the harbor-side; So, oft in life a vision falls, Dream-born, athwart the ways of men. Of summer lands and golden halls

Transcendent in their beauty-then Falls down the dark of mind distrest; Yet vaguely trust they in the hope That, through the doom of darkness blest, They with their omens ill may cope:

When morrow's dawning comes, they find All golden is the land around.

Darkness had fallen; but night's wind

Wafted them to their Dreamland's

The Wall Street Panic.

By Frederick Upham Adams.

Frederick Upham Adams has given to the world in his "The Kidnapped Millionaires," published by the Lothrop company, Boston, one of those stories that both please and instruct, and yet which seldom rise to the point where they are classed as great literary productions. The story is laid about Wall street and hinges upon the panic of a few weeks ago. For characters the author has selected Wall street millionaires, newspaper editors and reporters, sailors, and a pretty girl. One of the younger generations of millionaires is suffering from a mild form of dementia, and while in this condition entices other influential financiers aboard his yacht and then carries them captive to a point on the coast of Mexico from which they cannot escape. The remainder of the story is woven about the efforts of a New York newspaper to find these captive millionaires and their final return. The book is interesting not so much because of the plot, but because of the clear insight the author gives his readers of the business methods of Wall street. In this he thoroughly understands his subject, and handles it with a vivid description that carries with it both interest and instruction to the lay reader. We reproduce below, with the permission of the publishers, the chapter in the volume descriptive of the scenes on the New York stock exchange during the day of the recent panic there:

WHAT happened on this famous Tuesday has been lightly touched on in the opening chapter of this history. The morning papers had devoted considerable space to the "bear flurry" in Wall street. There were guarded allusions to the coup men who had not been seen on the performed by Mr. Kent, who had confrom $750,000 to $3,000,000, and it was strongly intimated that he would live to regret the unwarranted scare he had precipitated. The Record had an illustration proving that if Mr. Kent's winnings were in $1 bills they would make a package three times the height of the Eiffel tower, and that it would take two express cars to hold them.

This pleased the public, and reconciled them to the losses which had been sustained by the small speculat-

On the preceding evening the excitement on the Stock exchange had been transferred to the big hotels and fashionable cafes uptown. The more important speculators made the circuit of the hotels and clubs in search of the financial giants of Wall street. Such as were interviewed professed utter ignorance of the cause of the decline. Mr. Kent was not to be found at any of the places he was wont to frequent and several anxious followers called up his residence by telephone, but were told that he had not yet arrived. Mr. Morton did not make his usual appearance at his favorite club. The morrow was anticipated with dread by those who had trailed in on the much-heralded boom.

On the following Tuesday morning London ignored the New York break in prices and opened strong. Chicago and the speculative west looked on its splendid crops and telegraphed buying orders in generous volume. The galleries around the trading floor of the exchange were crowded with the sight-seers who are always in force when the market is excited. The hand on the big clock slowly approached the hour of ten. The thousand or more brokers gravitated towards the various standards which bore the names of the important trading stocks.

trict was a Bedlam. Men tore papers from the hands of newsboys and rushed away without paying for them. The wildest rumors, if of evil purport, became certainties. The word went down the street that a great bank had closed its doors. There was no fragment of truth in the statement, but it was accepted as an urquestioned fact. It was charged that the great enterprises in which Carmody, Pence and Morton were concerned were insolvent, and that these men were in secret conference, endeavoring to arrange a compromise with the ereditors. Mr. Kent was regarded as the speculator who had been intrusted with this news, and commissioned to use it to recoup some of the losses. The evening papers were flooding the city with extras. The news was so stupendous as to confound the genius of the designers of headlines. There was neither space nor type sufficient to depict their emotions. But the imagination of the reporters was equal to the crisis. In bewildering succession the millionaires were kidnaped, lured away, and murdered by anarchists; had committed suicide, or reposed safely in the bosom of their families.

At one o'clock sugar had dropped 25 points, Baltimore & Ohio 13 p ints, St. Paul 14 points, Metropolitan 32 points, Jersey Central 17 points and Steel and Iron 21 points. The stocks in which the missing men were not known to be interested withstood the shock with smaller losses, but the whole list was mutilated almost beyond recognition. The news had reached London too late to permit English operators to cover in that market, and the cables bore the tales of their dilemma.

Shortly after one o'clock brokers in the employ of Street & Rogers jumped into the market as buyers. In the first hour of the session, before the break came, it was estimated such filings on a sheet of paper and that they had sold not less than 300,000 pass a magnet under the paper. But they were yet in a precarious situation. Shrewd judges calculated that these houses were "long" on stocks to the extent of fully 1,000,000 shares. In the existing state of the market, with the panic in full sway, the profits might disappear in the torrent of holdings which were being thrown overboard. The experts figured that the unknown syndicate had sold 800,000 shares on Friday, Saturday and Monday, and during the early part of Tuesday's session. They had covered 600,000 shares on the big break which announced the disappearance of the capitalists. Their average profit was estimated at $20 a share, or $12,-000,000. On the rise following the bogus dispatch they had sold 400,000 shares, making a total of 600,000 share; for which they were "short." They covered this, according to the best judges, at an average profit of $25 a share, or $15,000,000. This was done during the panic which followed the disappearance of John M. Rockwell and Hiram Haven, and the disclosure of the bogus Philadelphia dispatch. This made their total profits $27,000,-000, but they had purchased an additional 1,000,000 shares, which at the closing figures showed a loss of about three points, or $3,000,000. The syndicate was therefore $24,000,000 winner, with 1,000,000 shares yet in their possession, which must be sold in a market that seemed shattered beyond hope of repair.

The members of the firm of Street & Rogers gave out no figures and refused to name the men they were representing. They stated that they had considered the market overbought, and had sold stocks in anticipation of a natural reaction. The unexpected bad news had found them in a situation from which they could not help reaping an enormous advantage. They had simply taken profits on the various movements of the market, and did not share the apprehensions of those who feared for the safety of the missing men. Mr. Street declared that prices were too low at the closing figures, even if it were known that the worst had happened. Intrinsic values could not be permanently affected by the fate of individuals, and he advised buying on any further deering a hundred and sixty acres. I have no doubt but that this country excels as a grazing or ranching country, because they have such rich grass, having an abundance of rain to keep it fresh. They also have plenty of water streams, and as a rule water may be reached at a depth of from 20 to 40 feet. From this you see there can be plenty of hay mown for winter feeding, and I have had reliable farmers to tell me that their stock will feed on hay alone, and be ready for market in the spring. Upon inquiring about the expense of raising a steer, a farmer replied that he did not consider it would cost any more than $4.00 or $6.00 to develop a three-year-old steer. I truly think Canada offers a fine opening for a young man or a man who is renting land in Indiana. One hundred and sixty acres of good black land will cost you only $10.00 at the time you enter it, and by plowing and cultivating five acres each year for three years, gives you one hundred and sixty acres of good land for $10.00. This land can be bought from the Railroad Companies, private corporations or the Government for $3.00 to $4.00 per acre. From a financial standpoint, I believe that for a series of years (five), land and Bnffalo without extra charge a young man can make $10.00 in Canada, whereas he would only make $1.00 here, and I feel sure that I spent more money to get my eighty acre farm in White County, Indiana, cultivated, than it would cost me to cultivate eight hundred acres in Canada. This may seem a strong view to take of the matter, but when you take into consideration the clearing, ditching, fencing and the expensive breaking in of the stumps, and then compare the expense to that of land conclude that it is not such a wild or exaggerated statement as you might at first think.

I enjoyed the balmy, breezy atmosphere, which was bracing and refreshing, and the cool nights which made it so pleasant for sleep.

On making inquiries regarding the winters in this country I learned that the people never suffer from the cold, as the weather is dry and invigorating, and in a great many places, farmers and herders allow their stock to run outside the year round.

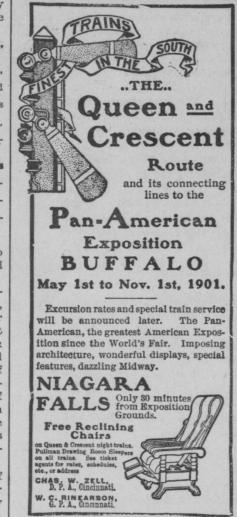

One great advantage to the settlers in Western Canada is the free creameries established by the Government. and run exclusively in the interest of the farmer.

I visited Thomas Daley, a farmer near Edmonton, Alberta, who showed me oats he had raised, some of which took the first prize at the Paris Exposition last year. The same yielded 110 bushels to the acre in 1899. Yours truly, FRANK FISHER

Nearly Every Bell in the City Thoroughfares Now Means "Jump for Your Life!"

In the steady volume of the noises of the street the bell has become the insistent characteristic-the jingling bell, the tinkling bell, the sweet bell jangled out of tune-above all, the peremptory clang of the warning gong. It is not so very long ago that the bells of the street were few and readily understood. There was the gypsy chime of cowbells swinging on a leather belt supported by uprights on a pushcart. Its not inharmonious jangle meant old rags as certainly as the blast of the horn meant Friday fish. The clangor of the brazen handbell, the large dinner bell, pealed in a sort of march tempo, was a sure indication of the passage of the scissors grinder, with his wheel upon his back and the bell in hand, looking for the chance to renew the edges of domestic cutlery.

Every horse on every street car wore a bell at his collar, and the rhythmic jingle was no unpleasant accompaniment to the flinty beat of iron-shod hoofs in measured intervals upon the cobbles, says the New York Tribune.

Now the bells have only one message, and a stern one: "Get out of the way!"-a message such as may be read where country turnpikes cross the track under the warning gibbet, Tommy Tuff-Say, mam, the boys with its inscription: "Look out for The stroke of every bell upon the streets in this high speeding age His Mother-I don't doubt it, but means "Jump for your life!" With clang and clatter the electric car whizzes past, and before the warning has ceased to ring in the ears will be a block away.

Still more peremptory are the ambulances, whose rubber tires bring them, scarcely heard, right down upon the wayfarer before their gong goes off with the rattle of all the watchmen of antiquity rolled into one. Still more stealthy in its approach is the bicycle, with the weakengagement with Miss Prettie is off, I er demand of its continuous performance bell for the right of way; but foot travel has become habituated to the wheel, and is disposed to insist upon some such rule as secures the right of way at sea to the windjammer over the steamer.

> The latest bell to come upon the streets is that which marks the coming of the automobile. Some of these deadly machines have adopted the shrill pipe of the whistle of steam or compressed air, but others have a distinctive chime of two notes, like some church clock striking the halfhour. For no worse sin than ringing the bells of his parish church John Bunyan saw the red-hot gates of hell yawning open for him. Just think what a doomsealer he would be were he to listen to the bells of

EDUCATION IN GERMANY.

New Regulations Designed to Pro mote the General Intelligence of the Country.

Although illiteracy is almost unknown in Germany, legislators are constantly busy designing means for promoting the intelligence of the masses. Uniformity in the elementary schools is the purpose of an act recently gone into effect, says an educational authority. The law decrees that a child must attend school from six until 14 years of age. Exceptions may be made, but blind and deaf and dumb children are subject to this rule wherever special arrangements have been made for their instruction. Children attending other public schools or receiving instruction from private teachers, corresponding, at least, to that of the public schools, are not obliged to attend the latter. Children who continually neglect school without sufficient excuse can be compelled to attend. Parents or guardians who neglect to keep their children at school will be subject to fines or imprisonment varying from three hours to two days. Instead of imprisonment work for the community may be im-

Employers who keep children from school will be fined not less than 150 marks. Parents and guardians are obliged to provide material for needlework and other means of instruction for girls. Otherwise the school board has the right to obtain these things by compulsion. According to the district physician act of April 1 all public and private schools are, in hygienic matters, under the control of an official physician, who must, at certain intervals, winter and summer, visit every school in his district and examine the buildings as well as inquire concerning the health of the pupils and the schoolmaster.

Bishop A. Grant, of Indianapolis, Ind., writes the following letter:

Indianapolis, Indiana, 3349 N. Pennsylvania Street. Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.: Gentlemen—"I have been using Peruna for catarrh and can cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone who wants a good medicine."—A. Grant.

Prominent members of the clergy are giving Peruna their unqualified endorsement. These men find Peruna especially adapted to preserve them from catarrh of the vocal organs which has always been the bane of public ty incident to the sedentary life of the clergyman. Among the recent utterances of noted clergymen on the curative virtues of Peruna is the above one from Bishop Grant.

Writes His Recommendation for the Famous Catarrh Remedy, Pe-ru-na.

The day was when men of prominence hesitated to give their testimonials to proprietary medicines for publication. This remains true to-day of most proprietary medicines. But Peruna has become so justly famous, its merits are known to so many people of high and low station that none hesiates to see his name in print recommending Peruna.

The following letters from pastors who use Peruna speak for themselves: Rev. E. G. Smith, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of Greensboro, Ga., "My little boy had been suffering for some time with catarrh of the lower bowels. Other remedies had failed, but after taking two bottles of Peruna the trouble almost entirely disappeared. For this special malady I consider it well nigh a specific."—Rev. E. G. Smith.

Rev. A. S. Vaughn, Eureka Springs, Ark., says: "I had been prostrated by congestive chills and was almost dead; as soon as able to be about, I commenced the use of Peruna. I took five bottles; my strength returned rapidly and I am now enjoying my usual health."—Rev. A. S. Vaughn.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, givhas always been the bane of public ing a full statement of your case and speakers, and general catarrhal debil- he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

A CASE OF BAD BOWELS

Are you happy? Not if your liver and bowels don't work. Happiness depends on the bowels. Every time you eat, you put into your body not only good material for repairs and fuel, but a mass of useless stuff that has to be removed promptly or it will clog your machinery, poison your blood, throw your liver out of gear, and make you act mean to those you love. Your stomach is sour, your skin yellow, your breath offensive, and you hate yourself and all mankind. Winter or summer it's all the same, when you are unclean inside, you are unhappy and so is everybody near you. The cure is pleasant, quick, easy, cheap, never fails. Cascarets, the world's greatest bowel cleaner and liver tonic. Cascarets are guaranteed to cure constipation, lazy liver, bad blood, bad breath, sour stomach, biliousness, and all summer and winter bowel troubles. Don't be unhappy-buy a box today. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c. Write for health booklet and free sample. Address Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago or New York.

Stevenson's Cup of Misery. R. L. Stevenson, writing in 1893 to George Meredith, in an epistle quoted in a new edition of his "Letters," says, with heart touching pathos:

"For 14 years I have not had a day's real health. I have wakened sick and gone to bed weary, and I have done my work unflinehingly. I have written in bed and written out of it, written in hemorrhages, written in sickness, written torn by coughing, written when my head swam for weakness, and for so long, it seems to me, I have won my wager and recovered my glove. I am better now-have been, rightly speaking, since first I came to the Pacificand still few are the days when I am not in some physical distress. And the battle goes on-ill or well is a trifle so that it goes. I was made for a contest, and the powers have so willed that my battlefield should be this dingy, ingloritle. At least, I have not failed, but I petings and the open air over my

The Life Ling In One's Hand. There are three prominent lines in the palm-the line of life, that of the head and the heart line. The line of life begins on the inner boundary of the palm, about midway between the thumb and the forefinger. If we imagine the left hand to be a map, with the fingers pointing north, this line runs toward the southeast, then curves toward the south and in some hands curves finally toward the southwest. It thus skirts the base or "uprise" of the thumb, known as the uprise of Venus. If it is deep, broad, of good color and extends nearly or quite to the wrist and if the rest of the hand indicates vitality and cheerfulness, the subject may be expected to live to a green old age; he has a good disposition and the qualities which good health and good temper usually create.

In Lake Minnetonka, Minnesota, there is a picturesque island which takes its name from the fact that it is uninhabited by man and given over to the cranes. Generations back these birds decided upon this spot for a summer resort. As times went on and the surrounding islands populated no man had the heart to disturb them, until now Crane island is pointed out from passing boats as one of the curiosities of the northwest.

Shaves and Colds.

It is not generally known among men that close shaving is apt to bring on a cold. Barbers, however, are acquainted with this fact, and it is rather on account of it than through any desire to bring their patrons back soon again that they do not, unless ordered to, administer close shaves.

THE HAIRY AINOS AND THEIR RESER-VATIONS IN THE EMPIRE.

Among the many curious customs of the Ainus perhaps the quaintest is their method of naming their children. They observe a peculiar economy in giving names. The infant must go without a name until it shows itself worthy of bearing one. If it is sickly and not likely to live, it is not considered worth while to waste a name upon it. As each child must by immemorial custom have a brand new name, used by no one in the community, names are scarce and must be guarded. If the child at 5:30 p. m. should be given a name borne by some one else, the ghost of the former possessor of the name may come back from the underworld to avenge the some incident that occurred at the child's birth or it is left to the parents afterward to choose one for it. Should the infant come into the world with a smiling face it might be called Ikishimaburu, which means a smile, or fond parents may call it Kamoissage (a pulling rope of the gods) if they wish their child to be in the special care of Ainus live in dwellings of about the same class as those of the American Indians. The rude hut has two windows, one of them for ordinary earthly uses, the other reserved for the entrance of the gods.

Woman is fairly treated and held in deep respect. The man is not allowed to enter the house when the woman is in it alone, and he is not permitted to walk behind a woman. When a man meets a woman, he must salute first, by smoothing his beard and rubbing PARIS, his hands. Then she responds by touching her nose with a finger of her left hand.

During October the Ainus hold a religious fete, which is called the bear which has been carefully fostered for three years.

Judicial punishment among the Ainus consists of a severe beating with a stick administered to the culprit. The crimes are generally theft-stealing articles or the wife of a neighbor. As there are eight men to one woman the NON-UNION AGENTS, majority of the males are not married, and wife stealing is very common. The accused is subjected to a long examination by the chief of the community and is then compelled to resort to the ordeal of fire. He must take a stone out of boiling water. If innocent, the Ainus think he will not be injured. If the question cannot be settled in this way, the principals in the dispute must fight

The Ainus are polytheists, though they limit their gods to two, a god of fire and a god of water. The first is called Kabekamoi and the latter Hatokamol. They, also, like most peoples who have a religious system, believe in some sort of heaven and hell.-Japan and America.
